Rosa,

The current recommendation that is pending includes June July and August invoices and certain reimbursements based on certain supplemental documentation you provided relating to past invoices. We are submitting the recommendation on the newer invoices and the backup reimbursement with respect to the more recent Greenberg invoices separately. I have reached out to the client for an update on the anticipated payment date and will continue to do so regularly and will keep you apprised of updates.

In the meantime, do you know when we can expect the requested trial budget?

Liz- when will the next payment be issued and in what amount? Per my last email, we expect that the next payment will refund all fees currently outstanding as all the information requested to process these invoices was submitted. Thanks.

Rosa,

I have been following up with my client about this regularly and received an update this morning. The client has the market authority and now just needs internal authority and will update me as soon as he can on that issue.

In the meantime, so that my client can better anticipate reserves and updates to the market, we request that defense counsel provide an anticipated budget through trial. It is my understanding that jury selection is presently scheduled to begin on November 6 and that trial will begin on November 13. Please keep us apprised if these dates for any reason are continued.

Best,

Elizabeth
